

Zoom Setup

Lionel Yu Piano Studio Spring Semester 2025

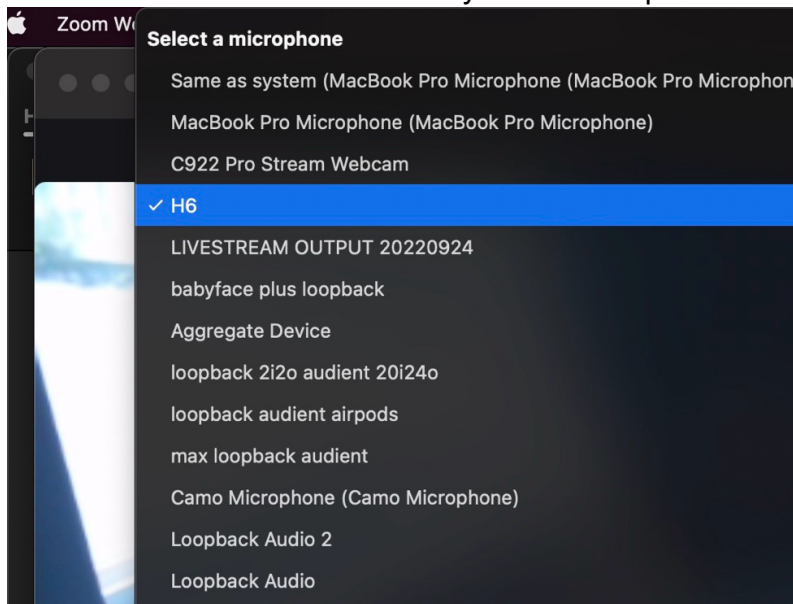

Our lessons are done via the Zoom application on the computer. The ideal device for Zoom is a laptop or desktop computer. Phone/iPad is not recommended due to the mobile Zoom app lacking some functionalities.

You can open the Zoom application before the lesson and setup everything beforehand.

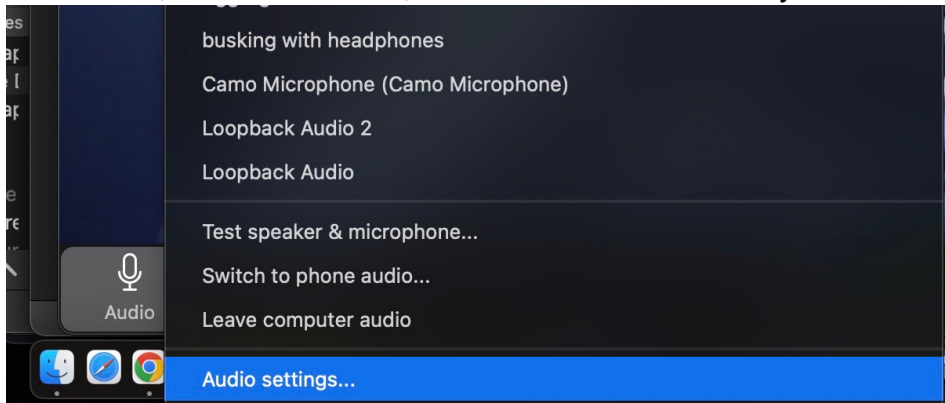

1. Microphone Selection – see the lower left hand corner and press the little upwards Carrot ^ next to the “Audio” icon.

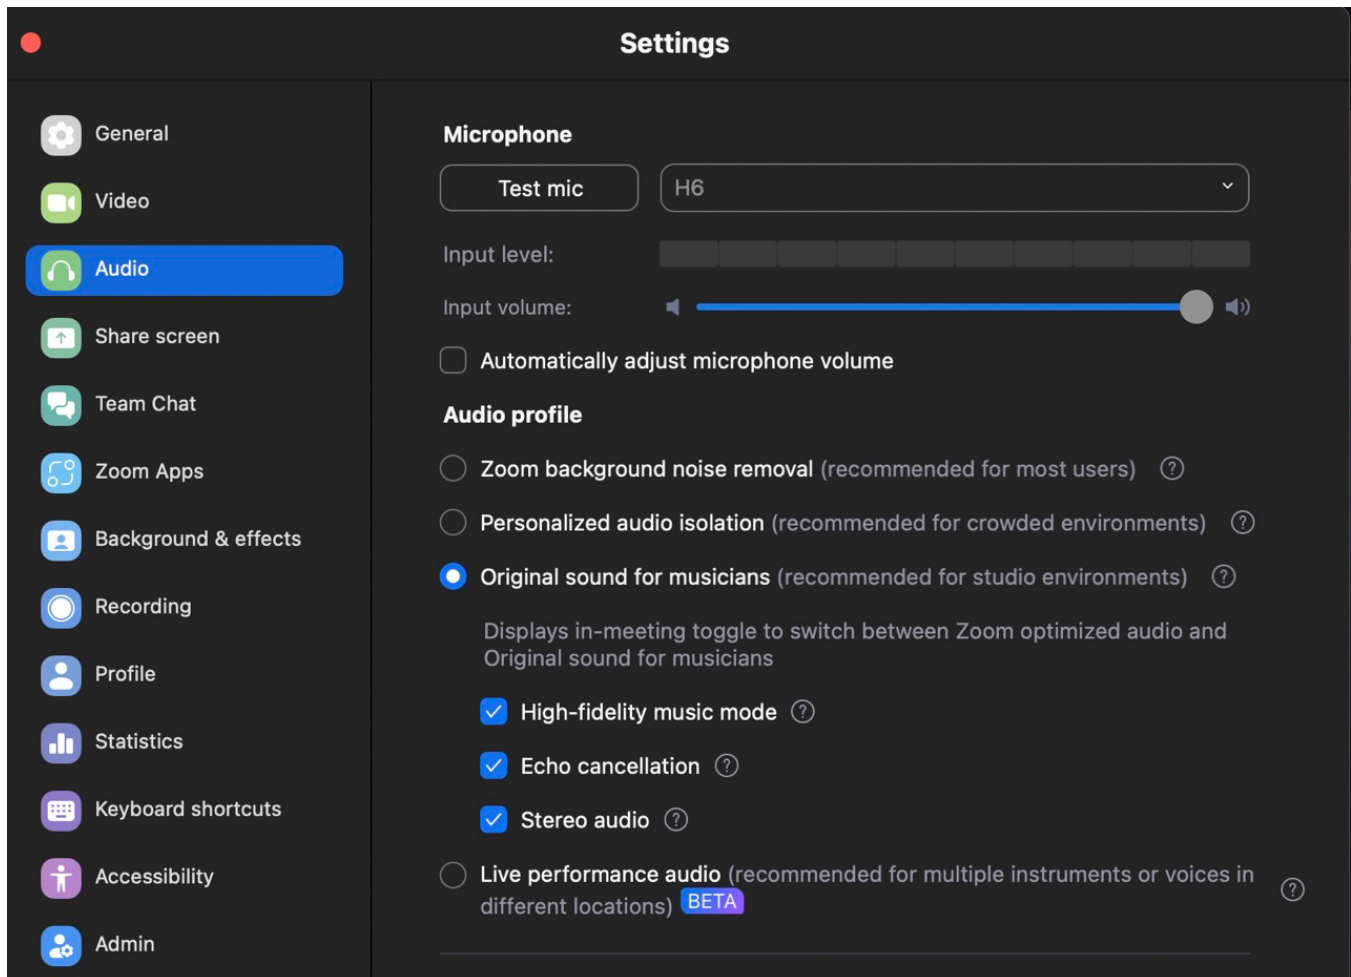

2. In the ensuing box that opens, you will be shown a selection of your audio devices. Make sure to select your microphone here – if you purchased any of the microphones I recommended above they will show up here. I’m using the Zoom H6 in this screenshot.

3. Now, in this same tab, scroll to the bottom until you see a selection called “Audio Settings”

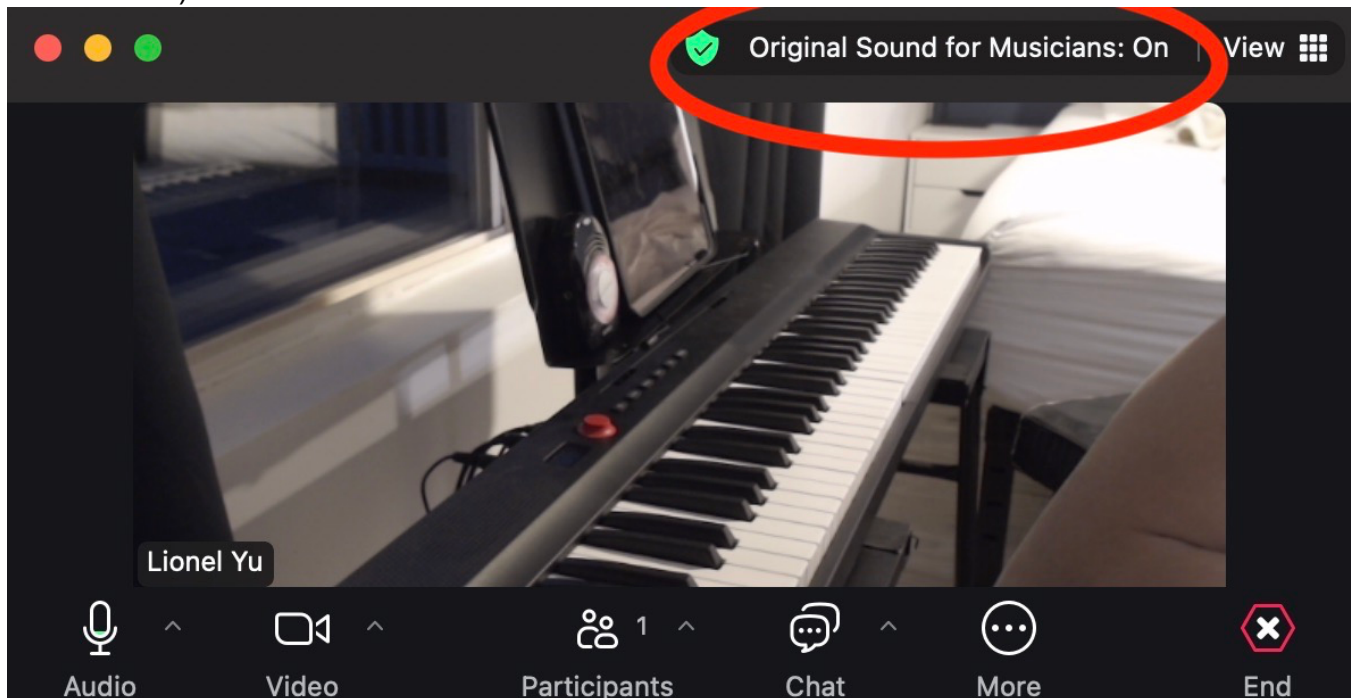

4. In the ensuing window that opens up, we’re going to make sure a few items are checked and unchecked:

We’re going to make sure that Original Sound for Musicians is turned on, and that all 3 checkboxes – High Fidelity Music Mode, Echo Cancellation and Stereo Audio are all turned on. We are also going to make sure that “automatically adjust microphone volume” is turned off.

Note that this only needs to be done once and it should be good for all future instances of our sessions.

There is an additional toggle in the main page itself, that needs to be toggled on (on the top right hand corner):

That's it! Following this setup, you are now setup for online piano lessons via Zoom. Any questions you can ask me at support@musicalbasics.com
